

PROJECT MANAGER, PRODUCT

Urbanista was founded in 2010 in Stockholm, Sweden out of love for cities and urban life. Today we are a leading lifestyle audio brand offering products with design and function in mind. All our products are rooted in Scandinavian design tradition and inspired by music, arts, fashion, and urban culture. We believe that lifestyle audio products should not only sound great but also look good. Today, our products are available in over 90 countries and sold in 30,000 stores worldwide. We're now looking for an experienced Project Manager to join us on a full-time basis.

This role requires proven project management skills, deep understanding and solid experience in consumer tech, and a desire to play a key role in developing the next generation of product experiences for one of the most exciting lifestyle audio brands in the world.

THE ROLE

As our Project Manager, you will be responsible for the planning, execution, and daily coordination of product development projects at Urbanista. You will act as a glue between product, marketing, operations and partners, coordinating the daily efforts towards the launch of new products into the market.

The role requires an experienced project manager or coordinator who has worked in physical product development roles and is not afraid to get their hands dirty and get things done when needed. The ideal candidate understands both the zoomed-out perspective of the end-to-end process and the zoomed-in ingredients such as UX and industrial design as well as electronics, firmware, and apps.

You will become part of a small, agile, and highly energetic group of visionaries and creatives, working at the frontline of consumer tech from a studio in the very center of Stockholm, Sweden.

The role reports to the Product Director at Urbanista and is part of the product team.

RESPONSIBILITIES

- Planning and execution of product development plans, including both coordination of local efforts and daily alignment with operation and partners in Asia
- Briefing internal and external teams and partners on new project initiatives, and keeping stakeholders informed and up to date
- Refining and implementing processes, methods, and tools
- Managing project relationships with external partners

REQUIREMENTS

- Minimum 3 years of experience in end-to-end project management, from initial brief and concept creation through industrialization and on to the market introduction
- Experience from working in the intersection of UX and tech, hardware and digital, with a good technical understanding
- A proactive and positive approach to problem-solving with a structured, process-oriented, and collaborative mindset
- Self-motivated and energetic with a high level of initiative
- Flexible and enjoy working in a constantly evolving environment at a young, fast-moving growth company
- Able to travel internationally
